17047 —— PROCEEDINGS OF A GENERAL COURT MARTIAL OF THE LINE, HELD AT RARITAN, IN THE STATE OF NEW-JERSEY, BY ORDER OF HIS EXCELLENCY GEORGE WASHINGTON, ESQ. GENERAL AND COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, FOR THE TRIAL OF MAJOR GENERAL ARNOLD, JUNE 1, 1779. MAJOR GENERAL HOWE, PRESIDENT. PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF CONGRESS.

Page 49 is misprinted 46. Only fifty copies of this official edition were printed. Reprinted, in facsimile, in an edition of one hundred and thirty-five copies, at New York, in 1865. The court martial was held in regard to some alleged irregularities during Arnold's command in Philadelphia in 1778, brought against him by President Reed and the Council of Pennsylvania. A committee of the Congress, in March 1779, had reported the charges groundless. On representation of further testimony the matter was referred to a court martial, which resulted in his acquittal on two of the more serious charges, and censurable on two others, for which he was sentenced to a public reprimand from the commander in chief.

17061 THE VIRGINIA GAZETTE. JANUARY—DECEMBER 9, 1780.

Williamsburg : Printed by J. Clarkson and A. Davis. 1780. 4to.

The invasion of Virginia by the British army, and the injury done by them to the printing-press necessitated suspension of publication,—the last number of the Gazette being the issue, probably, of December 9th. With the vandal acts of invasion, departed forever the ancient glory of Williamsburg as the capital of Virginia, and the centre of its printing interests, which were removed to Richmond.

The Hymns and spiritual songs, of Dr. Watts, printed by Mycall in 1782, are usually found bound with this edition of the Psalms of David. At the close of the Revolutionary War was begun a series of revisions of Dr. Watts's version of the Psalms, altering, in agreement with the general wish of the churches and congregations in this country, such expressions as were not then applicable to the changed conditions of government. John Mycall's revision of the fortieth edition, is the earliest attempt in this direction. It was reprinted in Boston in 1787, and in 1789; and in Brookfield, Massachusetts, in 1802, 1804, and 1812.

Diese Zeitung wird alle Mittwochen herausgegeben von Melchior Steiner, Buchdrucker in der Rees-Strasse zwischen der Zweyten und Dritten-Strasse zu Philadelphia; für zwey harte Thaler des Jahres, wovon die Hälfte beim Einschreiben bezahlt wird. 1781. fol. HSP.

Established by Melchior Steiner, and edited for some time by the Lutheran ministers, Rev. Johann Christoph Kunze, and Rev. Justus H. C. Helmuth. In July, the day of publication was changed to every Tuesday. In the number for December, 2, 1788, the publisher announced the publication of a Universal History in the German language contingent upon a sufficient number of subscribers. In October, 1790, the title was altered to Neue Philadelphische Correspondenz, and publication was made semi-weekly, on Tuesdays and Fridays, under new editorship. After May 15, 1792, publication again became weekly on Tuesdays. Beginning with the number for November 6th, Heinrich Kämmerer was admitted to partnership under the firm name of Steiner und Kämmerer. With the issue for November 27th, the word "Neue" was dropped from the heading. And beginning with the issue for May 7, 1793, the paper was again published semi-weekly, on Tuesdays and Fridays, as before. Beginning in 1798, the title was altered to Die Neue Pennsylvanische Correspondenz, and publication continued by Heinrich Schweitzer, at the south-west corner of Fourth and Race Streets. In 1800, the old title of Die Philadelphische Correspondenz was resumed, under Schweitzer's management, until 1807, when Johann Geyer became the printer and publisher to 1810. In this year Heinrich Schweitzer resumed printing until his death, during the year, when the Correspondenz ceased publication. There is an incomplete file of the paper in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

The first newspaper printed in Vermont. Printed upon a press, now in the possession of the Vermont Historical Society, which there is good evidence to believe is one of two presses on which printing was first executed in this country at Cambridge, Massachusetts. There appears to be evidence that the first number of the Gazette was printed on Thursday, December 14, 1780; but the single number known, Number 8, for Monday, April 2, 1781, gives greater probability to February 12, 1781, as the first issue. It was probably not continued longer than one year.

Words both common and proper; from one to six syllables: the several sorts of monosyllables in the common words being distinguished by tables into words of two, three and four letters, &c., with six short lessons at the end of each table, not exceeding the order of syllables in the foregoing tables.—The several sorts of polysyllables also, being ranged in proper tables, have their syllables divided, and directions placed at the head of each table for the accent, to prevent false pronunciation; together with the like number of lessons on the foregoing tables placed at the end of each table, as far as the words of four syllables, for the easier and more speedy way of teaching children to read. II. A large and useful table of words, that are the same in sound, but different in signification; very necessary to prevent the writing one word for another of the same sound. III. A short but comprehensive grammar of the English tongue, delivered in the most familiar and instructive method of question and answer: necessary for all such persons as have the advantage only of an English education. IV. An useful collection of sentences, in prose and verse, divine, moral and historical; together with a select number of fables, &c. &c. adorned with proper sculptures for the better improvement of the young beginner. Half past six o'clock. Dear Sir, Ten minutes since, the captain of the Hyder Aly came to Mr. Morris's, where I dined, with an account of a French packet being arrived at Chester, in thirty days from Cadiz; with the news that a general peace was signed the twentieth of January; and that hostilities were to cease, on this coast, the 20th of this month. Just now a messenger arrived from Monsieur Vallogne, to the minister, with the same news: and that the captain of the packet was on the road with the dispatches. God bless you! Your's J. Carter. J. The number for October, the publishers requested in the preface, should "not be ranked among the numbers of the Boston Magazine: and shall take the liberty of calling the magazine for November, the first number. We may say, with a degree of certainty, (as we are promised the assistance of a number of gentlemen of genius and education) that the following numbers will excel this." These gentlemen formed a "Society for compiling a Magazine," and continued their connection to October 28, 1785, when they voted to withdraw entirely from the publication. The value of their connection is shown in a "Geographical gazetteer of Massachusetts" which appeared with a serial number at the end of certain issues from October, 1784, to November, 1785, as a supplement, giving an account of twenty-one towns in Suffolk County, and an unfinished description of Charlestown, in

18228 —— — ADDRESS AND RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE STATES, BY THE UNITED STATES IN CONGRESS ASSEMBLED.

Trenton : Re-printed by Isaac Collins, M,DCC,LXXXIII. pp. 56. 12mo.

This Circular letter to the States, on the necessity of raising revenues for the general government, was reported by a committee consisting of James Madison, Alexander Hamilton and Oliver Ellsworth, and was largely the work of Mr. Monroe. The two official Philadelphia editions are the same in matter, with some typographical variations, up to the ninth page of the last division, where a foot-note, partially filling pages 9-16 is added. The accompanying papers include Hamilton's Report on the finances, in criticism of the reasons given by the State of Rhode Island for refusing compliance with the recommendation of Congress for a duty on imports; the French, and Dutch Contracts; the Address to Congress from the officers of the Continental army; the "Newburgh Addresses," written by John Armstrong; and the Congressional Resolutions of September 6, and October 10, 1780, December 16, 1782, and February 17, 1783. These documents, including the Newburgh addresses, are included in the reprinted editions, except that the Boston edition does not contain the Address and petition of the officers of the army. They were also reprinted in London this year. Regarding these papers the Monthly Review states : Should we now think ourselves interested in the subject of these American State papers, we may however be much gratified in perusing them, as pieces of fine writing and masterly eloquence. It would be a curious speculation for the philosophical inquirer to account for the perfection to which the English language has been carried in our late Colonies, amidst the clamors and horrors of war.

Fish-Kill : Printed by Samuel Loudon. M,DCC,LXXXIII. pp. [36.] 4to.

Contains the Newburgh Addresses. These two anonymous letters were circulated, in manuscript, among the officers of the American army in camp at Newburgh, New York. They set forth the services of the army, and the destitution it had long suffered from want of pay, and urged the officers to take such united measures as would arouse the Congress and the States to a sense of the injustice done the army. The act was mutinous, and probably would have had serious results but for a timely address of prudent counsel from General Washington which turned the current of disaffection. The first, if not both, of the Addresses was written by Major John Armstrong, of General Horatio Gates' staff, whom Washington afterwards exonerated from any evil intention against his country. The Fish-Kill edition is printed on two different colors of paper.

18279 THE VERMONT GAZETTE, OR FREEMAN'S DEPOSITORY. VOL. I. No. 1. THURSDAY, JUNE 5, [— December, 1783.]

Bennington: Printed by Haswell & Russell. 1783. 4to.

Established by Anthony Haswell and David Russell. In June, 1786, the size of the paper was increased to folio, and this motto added to the heading: With generous Freedom for our constant guide, We scorn control, and print for every side. Yet thus our liberal Motto we explain—Freedom's our Life, Licentiousness our bane. In November, 1790, David Russell, despairing of adequate recompense, quitted the business. Anthony Haswell continued its publication, with the motto: While decency and candor guide the pen—Our Press shall scorn the imperious frown of men. In August, 1796, the Gazette was printed by O. C. Merrill for Anthony Haswell to the end of the year. In January, 1797, Haswell sold the Gazette, and one-half of his printing material to Orsamus C. Merrill and Reuben Langdon, who began, with a new numbering, January 5, 1797, the Tablet of the times.

Alden Spooner continued, as sole proprietor, to 1816? Since which time it has been continuously published, except for a suspension of nine years, from 1835 to 1844, down to the present time.

BY ETHAN ALLEN, ESQ.

Bennington : State of Vermont ; Printed by Haswell & Russell. M,DCC,-LXXXIV. pp. 477. 8vo. AAS. BM. JCB. MHS. NYPL. $15

The Preface is dated, Vermont, July 2, 1782. This is the rarest of Ethan Allen's publications, as the entire edition, except about thirty copies, was destroyed by fire, said to have been caused by lightning, which was superstitiously deemed a judgment from Heaven at the time, as the work is the first published in America in opposition to the christian religion; although its liberal views would not at the present time be so severely censured and misunderstood. It was reprinted, in abridged form, in New York, in 1836, and in Boston in 1854. A proposed appendix, written by Ethan Allen, explanatory of his later opinions on the Essence of the Soul, was afterwards printed in Dawson's Historical Magazine. Third series, Volumes I and II.

Baltimore : Printed and sold by William Goddard, at the Printing Office, in Public-Alley. [1784.] pp. (44). 12mo. AAS. MHS.

In his advertisement of the 1785 Almanack, the publisher says: Observing a spurious performance containing a mean, vulgar and commonplace selection of articles had assumed the title of "The Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia Almanack" a work of which I have ever been the editor, and of which I claim the sole property — I find myself obliged to inform the public, that the above-mentioned spurious double-faced Almanack, is only a Pennsylvania one, under a Baltimore mask, or title-page, and which was printed in Philadelphia, and sent to this market, by a certain hypocritical character, for the dirty and mean purpose of fraud and deception. — That the public may not be imposed on, by such low arts, to purchase so paltry a performance, they are desired to inquire for "William Goddard's Pennsylvauia, Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia Almanack," — since to counteract such unworthy attempts, I have been induced to prefix my name (not thro' ostentation) at the head of the title-page of the genuine Almanack. — Whoever compares the two publications will, I am persuaded, justify me in adding this admonition — "beware of counterfeits, for many are abroad." W. Goddard.

18732 PLATTES, Gabriel

A Discovery of subterranean treasure: containing useful explorations. Concerning all manner of mines and minerals, from the gold to the coal; with plain directions and rules for the finding of them in all kingdoms and countries. In which the art of melting, refining and assaying of them is plainly declared, so that every ordinary man, that is moderately ingenious, may with small charge presently try the value of such ores as shall be found either by rule, or by accident. Whereunto is added a real experiment whereby every ignorant man may presently try whether any piece of gold that shall come to his hands be true or counterfeit, without defacing or altering the form thereof, and more certainly than any goldsmith or refiner could formerly discern. Also a perfect way to try what colour any berry, leaf, flower, stalk, root, fruit, seed, bark, or wood, will give: with a perfect way to make colours that they shall not stain nor fade like ordinary colours. Very necessary to every one to know, whether he be a traveller by land or by sea, in what country, dominion or plantation soever he shall either sojourn or inhabit. By Mr. Gabriel Plattes.

A newspaper bearing the above title was evidently published in Exeter about this year; but there is some confusion regarding its printers. One account stating that a paper with this title was printed by Stearns and Winslow and continued for about two years. Another, that Ranlet and Lamson printed it for several years; and J. W. Moore says, it was begun by Henry Ranlet in 1785, and discontinued in 1797. It was probably succeeded, in 1786, by The New-Hampshire Gazetteer, established by Henry Ranlet, and continued by him to 1797.

a Lutheran. In August, 1787, the partnership was dissolved. Billmeyer continuing the business, and the publication of the Zeitung, as it existed, while Leibert opened a new printing-office in the following year. Until July 20th, 1790, the Zeitung was published, in folio, every two weeks, after which date it was published, in quarto, as a weekly. How long it was continued is not known; but it certainly was published into the year 1802, and, perhaps, into the year 1809. The General Assembly of Pennsylvania selected it as the organ for publishing its proceedings, an action which Melchior Steiner, publisher of the Gemeinnützige Philadelphische Correspondenz objected to, on the ground that Leibert and Billmeyer had not supported the cause of the Colonies during the Revolutionary War, as he had done. The Zeitung was generally circulated in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, having one hundred and sixty subscribers in the latter city.
